

A, An, The

A = one among many OR one in general

The = Something definite, something specific

An = a, e, i, o, u; before vowel sounding words

The boy in the last bench

A boy in the class

Proper nouns: The Taj Mahal, The Eiffel Tower, The Sun, The Moon, The Atlantic ocean, The Indian Ocean

Countries, cities, states

The USA, The UK, The UAE, The Netherlands = collection or amalgamation of different states, counties or islands

History = 13 colonies – collection; separated out – not a collection

The India of my dreams is a far off thought. Right

He is the Amitabh Bachchan of the south. Right

She is a/an MBA student. MBA = em. N, l, h, f, e, x, r = en, el, eh, ef, es, ex, ar

They saw a/an UFO. UFO = you.

An RNA strand

Honest, hour, heir

University, Universe

The vs The (pronounced thee)